

URGE TOWN BOARD TO BUY EQUIPMENT

Citizens of Crothersville Want Adequate Fire Fighting Apparatus of Their Own.

DECISION TO BE MADE SOON

Residents Point to Two Recent Disastrous Losses to Show Need of Engine or Chemical.

As a result of the two disastrous fires at Crothersville within the last six weeks, the citizens are strongly urging the town board to purchase some kind of adequate fire fighting equipment that will afford better protection against similar losses in the future. Installation of such apparatus has been considered from time to time in the past but since the heavy loss Monday night the demands have been renewed and it is expected that the board will take some action in the very near future.

A prominent Crothersville business man today stated that in his opinion the time had come when Crothersville would have to purchase fire fighting apparatus. He pointed out that the two recent fires might have been extinguished before they had done much damage if they could have been fought with almost any kind of an adequate engine. He said that the saving of property would more than pay for the original cost of the device and that such a purchase would be economy for the people. He said that there are several types of engines adapted especially for small towns and that they could be purchased without a heavy outlay of money.

Another resident said that the proposed purchase of a fire engine had been considered for a year or more. He thought that such apparatus was needed by the town and feared that sometime a fire might break out when it would be impossible to get assistance from either Scottsburg or Seymour. In case of a fire at either place the apparatus would be used at home first and a delay of a half hour or even a few minutes might mean the loss of thousands of dollars.

Reference is frequently made to the fire at Scottsburg which started after the chemical from that town was on the way to Crothersville. The engine had been loaded on a traction car and was on the way to Crothersville. The engine had been loaded on a traction car and was on the way to Crothersville when the Scottsburg fire was reported. The car was held enroute until the Scottsburg fire was completely under control. It is pointed out that if the chemical could have been used at Crothersville it would have been delayed in arriving and that some time fire might occur at both towns at the same time. A similar condition might occur with respect to this city, it is stated. The Crothersville business men are of the opinion that the best solution of the problem is to purchase an engine that will serve the purpose there so that the town will have an independent fire department. At the present time the town is without any protection, and when fires occur the work of extinguishing them falls upon the citizens who organize a volunteer brigade.

The origin of the Crothersville fire Monday night is still a mystery. Work has been started to remove the charred timbers and other debris from the scene of the conflagration. J. O. Garrett, a member of the Crescent Milling Company, said this morning that the insurance adjusters had not yet visited the scene but were expected in Crothersville at any moment. He was of the opinion that his company would rebuild its feed exchange and harness salesroom this summer but said that nothing positive had been done towards making plans for the new building.

LUTHERAN SCHOOL HOLDS EXERCISES

Twenty-four Members of the Eighth Grade Class Formally Graduated With Impressive Ceremony.

ADDRESS BY E. H. ENGELBRECHT

Speaker Tells Pupils That Christian Educational Training is Valuable in Life's Work.

Impressive commencement exercises Tuesday night marked the close of the German Lutheran school year. Twenty-four pupils, thirteen girls and eleven boys, who this year completed the eighth grade were formally graduated and presented with diplomas. A large audience composed of the relatives and friends of the members of the class witnessed the exercises.

The class address was delivered by Prof. E. H. Engelbrecht, of Chicago. Music was furnished during the evening by the Lutheran Club orchestra and was greatly appreciated. Greetings were extended by S. T. Paul and his remarks were followed by a number by the class chorus. "A Dream" was the subject of a recitation given by Bertie Elm. The class prophecy was presented by Luella Maseher and farewell remarks were given by Paul Tormoehlen. The response for the class was given by Wilma Acker.

Superintendent T. A. Mott, of the city schools, made a brief address in which he congratulated the members of the class upon the completion of their course in the Lutheran schools and urged them to pursue their education further. With timely remarks the diplomas were presented by Rev. E. H. Eggers, pastor of the church.

In his introductory remarks the speaker emphasized the meaning of the word commencement. "Commencement" at the first glance the term seems to be a misnomer when applied to the present celebration, for do not these exercises mark the close of the studies of these children in the school they have been attending since the beginning of their school days? Yet the term is properly applied in this case and all like occasions. These exercises remind the graduates of the fact that they stand upon the threshold of a new chapter of their lives. For most of them school-days are a thing of the past while others will continue their studies at other institutions of learning. Thus these commencement exercises mark the beginning of a new epoch in the life of every one of the graduates.

In the address proper the speaker pointed out the advantages of a training in a christian school. He

SUCCESS COMPANY TO GIVE BENEFIT SUNDAY, JUNE 25

Exhibition Drill and Ball Game to be Staged at Schroer's Park—Big Crowd Expected.

Members of the Success Company Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, this afternoon began the canvass for tickets for the U. R. benefit to be held Sunday afternoon, June 25, at Schroer's Park. The company will give an exhibition drill during the first part of the afternoon. The drill will be followed by a ball game between the B. & O. teams of Seymour and Storrs. This game will be one of the regular schedule for the division championship. The local team recently won from the visitors and a hotly contested game is expected. An admission of 25 cents will be charged to the grounds.

Success Company is giving this benefit to raise money that will aid the members in going to Chattanooga the last week in August to attend the national encampment. The company will enter the competitive drills and expects to carry away one of the big prizes. The members of the company under the captaincy of W. L. Johnson are drilling regularly twice a week and are executing a number of difficult maneuvers.

It is expected that the exhibition drill and the ball game will be witnessed by a large crowd on June 25 as the friends of the members are anxious to aid them in their desire to enter the contests at the encampment.

Flag Day—American Day

"Sky-blue and true blue, with stars to gleam aright,
The gloried guidon, of the day, the shelter through the night,
The one flag—the great flag, the flag, for me and you—
Glorified all else beside—the red and white and blue!
Homeland and farland and half the world around,
Old glory hears our glad salute and ripples to the ground."

BIG PLATFORM ARRANGED FOR THE SEYMOUR BAND

Concert Will be Given at 8:00 O'clock at the Corner of Chestnut and Second Streets.

The second of the weekly concerts by the Seymour Concert Band will be given at 8 o'clock tonight at the corner of Second and Chestnut Sts. During the last week the band organization has purchased a platform 18x28 feet which will be erected in the street. The platform is built in section so that it can easily be removed and set at any place the concert is to be given.

Adolph Steinwedel, the director of the organization, today announced the following program for tonight:

March, "Lincoln Highway."
Overture, "Rustling Leaves."
Waltz, "Memories of Home."
Anvil Polka, "Jolly Blacksmith."
March, "Price of Victory."
A Tone Picture, "Southern Breezes."
Overture, "Criterion."
March, "Iowa State Semi-Centennial."
Home Sweet Home.

The band will also play Thursday afternoon and night at Shield's Park for the Lutheran School picnic.

NOTED TEMPERANCE WORKER TO SPEAK HERE TOMORROW

Rev. John Steele to Speak on the "Secret of a Lasting Victory" at Presbyterian Church.

Rev. John Steele, Associate Secretary of the Board of Temperance of the Presbyterian church, will speak Thursday evening, June 15, in the First Presbyterian church, cor Third and Walnut streets. His subject is "The Secret of a Lasting Victory."

Mr. Steele during the past year has delivered 331 addresses, traveled over 15,000 miles, and has taken part in six local option fights and one statewide campaign. He comes to Seymour after speaking in the Hanover church and college, the Madison High School and churches as well as at Vevay and North Vernon. He comes highly recommended by those who have heard him.

Rev. Mr. Steele has a timely subject. The cause of temperance in which he represents is becoming nationally significant. The entire community is cordially invited to this service which will begin at eight o'clock sharp. No collection will be taken.

ITALIAN WANTED IN NEW YORK HAD VISITED HERE

Guy Rizzuto, Charged With Assault and Battery in First Degree Held in Indianapolis.

Sanitary Officer Wallace went to Indianapolis Tuesday to request the police there to arrest Guy Rizzuto, forty-four, an Italian, who is wanted in New York on charges of robbery and assault and battery in the first degree. Chief of Police McCord received a letter from the New York superintendent of police several days ago stating that Rizzuto was believed to be in Seymour. The local police chief was asked to arrest the Italian and hold him until the arrival of officers from New York.

The local police found that the Italian had been in the city as the letter stated but had gone to Indianapolis. The Indianapolis police found him at a rooming house, 524 South East street and he was jailed. According to Indianapolis newspapers he told the police there that he had thrown a man into a cellar but that he had not robbed any one. He will be held in Indianapolis until officers from New York come for him.

MANY ODD FELLOWS PLAN TO MAKE CHATTANOOGA TRIP

Canton and Initiatory Degree Staff Making Arrangements For Sovereign Grand Lodge.

Many members of the local lodge of Odd Fellows are planning to make the trip to the Sovereign Grand Lodge which meets at Chattanooga, Tenn., in September. Canton Seymour No. 11, the uniformed branch of the order, expects to attend, and while they are not entered in the prize drills, will take part in the parade as a part of the Indiana division.

Besides the Canton, the Initiatory Degree Staff is arranging to make the trip and confer the degree in the prize contests which will be participated in by the best degree staffs in the country. The local staff is recognized as one of the best in Indiana, and is confident of winning some of the prize money at the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

Because of the many historic sights, including some of the most famous battle fields of the Civil War, which are to be seen in the vicinity of Chattanooga, as well as the rare natural scenery, the trip is a most panies have offered very low rates attractive one, and the railroad company for the occasion.

The Odd Fellows expect to arrange for a special car in which to make the trip, and invite all who wish to accompany them to make arrangements to do so. The date is the third week in September.

Colonel's Secretary Gives Out Statement That Slight Suffering is Result of Old Injury.

By United Press.
New York, June 14.—The condition of Colonel Roosevelt is not in the least serious, according to a statement by his private secretary, John McGrath, this afternoon. The statement was given out following the report that the colonel was seriously ill.

The report was circulated following a conversation between Roosevelt and his son-in-law. During the conversation Roosevelt placed his hand to his side several times. It was stated, however, that the suffering was the result of a sprained rib which he sustained several years ago and that his condition is not serious.

PROGRAM CARRIED OUT AS SCHEDULED

Democracy's Leaders Assemble at St. Louis Coliseum for Three Days of Routine Speech Making.

M'COMBS WIELDS THE GAVEL

Delegates Ask that Nominations Be Made Before Saturday—the Time Originally Set.

(By Perry Arnold, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

St. Louis, June 14.—Something more than 2,000 persons assembled here at noon today to wait time to speak and listen to speeches for three days before they do the one thing for which they have been chosen. In other words the Democratic national convention was called to order by National Chairman McCombs and started on its oratorical way towards the nomination of Wilson and Marshall.

Because of the very fact that the work of the convention is so perfunctory there was no excitement among the delegates and the work will be hurried along today. There may be an attempt to advance the date of the nominations instead of waiting until after midnight Friday to put through the national ticket.

The program for today's session was purely routine. First came the address of Chairman McCombs and then Former Governor Glynn, of New York, was introduced for his keynote speech.

After these addresses the convention arranged a few details concerning organization and adjourned until Thursday.

It was a cheerful, optimistic, cheering and confident throng that responded to the bang of National Chairman William F. McCombs' gavel. No specter of an internecine fight intruded. First of all, the delegates were meeting in Missouri, one of whose favorite sons four years ago was a defeated candidate in the battle of the ballots. That same favorite son, Speaker Champ Clark, as it to emphasize the healing of the wounds dealt him by the Baltimore gathering, was one of the loudest in his praises of the man who took from him the honor of leading the Democratic hosts.

"I believe the convention can adjourn by Friday, if it so desires," Chairman McCombs said just before convening the assembly. The delegates, themselves, however, indicated early in the meeting their desire to hear "glorification" speeches and this excess of enthusiasm was expected to prolong the convention until Saturday morning. St. Louis began playing the host to the visiting thousands in royal fashion. Non-partisan committees galore, whose interest and energy was bent solely toward making visitors comfortable and happy, were constantly in attendance. The convention is St. Louis's first chance since the Louisiana Purchase Exposition of 1904 to entertain distinguished guests, and St. Louisans were determined to make the occasion a memorable one.

The convention hall itself had been repainted throughout, mostly with white paint so that every possible bit of light was reflected into its gigantic interior. Special ventilating apparatus cooled the sultry air. Delegates and alternates alone were Coliseum, St. Louis, June 14.—Chairman William McCombs pounded sharply with his gavel at 12:31 o'clock this afternoon and the Democratic national convention was started on its three-day session which will end in the nomination of Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, and Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, for president and vice-president of the United States, respectively.

The big Coliseum was crowded long before noon, the hour set for the convention to convene. Delegates, after running the gauntlet of the silent suffragettes who stretched in long lines away from the convention doors, arrived early.

The "big guns" of the convention were late in arriving and the delegates and spectators sweltered in the sultry air of the big coliseum.

William Jennings Bryan was given an ovation when he arrived with his press ticket and a large fan in his hand.

Following the call to order the convention arose and sang "America." The "Star Spangled Banner" was next attempted but the heat proved too much for the majority of the singers.

Frequent applause greeted the opening address by Chairman McCombs. The convention call was read and amid applause the temporary roll of the convention was adopted with ex-Governor Glynn of New York, as temporary chairman.

"The genius of this country is for peace. With us war has never been a choice, it has always been a fate," said ex-Governor Glynn in his keynote address.

"We may look upon preparedness with as little favor as we look upon taxes but we pay the taxes because we want the protection for which the taxes pay," said Glynn.

"Truly the scholar statesman, whose rod has struck the golden rock of American's resources, to set free the wealth imprisoned for half a century, is a Moses who has led America's industries from the wilderness of doubt and despair to the Promised Land of Prosperity and hope.

"By the Underwood law this administration has taken the tariff out of politics; by the new Tariff Commission it proposes to take politics out of the tariff."

The keynote address of Glynn in the main was a review of the administration's achievements and a eulogy of President Wilson.

SEVEN INJURED IN AUTO CRASH AT INDIANAPOLIS

Mrs. Samuel Perrott, Wife of Superintendent of Police, Was Among The Injured.

WILSON TALKS TO WEST POINT GRADUATES

Imperative Duty of America to Be Prepared.

West Point, June 14.—One hundred and twenty-four superb young men, clad for the last time in the gray coat and duck trousers of a cadet's uniform, stepped forward in turn to the Battle monument and received from the hands of the president of the United States their diplomas of graduation from the military academy.

America and Americanism; preparedness, its dangers and the need of it; these were his themes:

"It is the present imperative duty of America to be prepared, so that mankind will know that when America speaks she means what she says."

And again: "All of its (America's) force is going to be behind its moral idea."

He referred to the dangers of the times and the responsibility of the men therein, and with his arms stretched out toward the martial statue of Washington astride a horse, behind them, he defined, perhaps vaguely, the spirit of America as he feels it.

TEN KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Score or More Hurt When Grain Elevator Is Wrecked by Bomb.

Baltimore, June 14.—Ten men were killed, thirty-five more or less severely injured by burns and falls, from a great height, about $2,000,000 in property was destroyed, and the grain industry of Baltimore given a severe blow when No. 3 elevator of the Northern Central railway, the superstructure of the vast grain dryers, and the big ore pier at Canton, were burned, and two steamships and several schooners were partially destroyed.

The cause of the fire can only be conjectured. The officials charge it to spontaneous combustion, due to the rapid handling of the grain. This creates a dust which generates gas. Men at work in the neighborhood insist it was a bomb that caused the trouble as the explosion blew out a side of the wall on the fourth floor and immediately after the flames shot out of the upper story windows.

CONVENTION TO BE HARMONIOUS

Democrats Invite Progressives to Join Them.

MARSHALL'S FOES ROUTED

Arrival of Secretary Baker at St. Louis Eliminates Vice Presidential Booms—Appeal to Moosers Made on Personality of Wilson.

St. Louis, Mo., June 14.—Secretary of War Baker's arrival here ended the movement started by some of the Democratic leaders to insert in the platform a plank condemning Justice Hughes for resigning from the supreme court to run for the presidency. Secretary Baker gave the leaders to understand that President Wilson was opposed to any such declaration.

The little prospect that existed for a small sized fight in the convention also disappeared. Many of the Democratic statesmen had counted on William J. Bryan raising a sufficient mass over preparedness to enliven the proceedings, at least, of the committee on resolutions which frames the party platform. But Mr. Bryan said when he got here that he did not intend "to start anything" at this gathering of the Democrats. He is here merely as a reporter and intends to confine his efforts to that job, unless the convention should invite him to deliver a speech as a personal compliment.

Mr. Bryan also put an end to the talk that had existed of the possibility of his leading a pacifist party with Henry Ford. The Commoner made it known that he stands for the re-election of President Wilson and that he is prepared to take his coat off and do a lot of speechmaking next fall if the party leaders want him.

Serious attention is being given by the Democratic leaders to ways and means of enticing the discontented Progressives into the Democratic camp. National Chairman McCombs wired Bainbridge Colby of New York, an invitation to join the Democratic party.

Many of the Democratic leaders are of the opinion, however, that the party cannot afford to make any serious commitment on bidding for the Progressive vote. It was pointed out that the Bull Moosers and the Democrats differed so radically on questions like the tariff and preparedness that the latter could not attempt to reconcile these differences in a platform in a declaration. The appeal to the Progressives is likely to be based on the personality and record of President Wilson.

All likelihood of a tangle over the vice presidency was eliminated when the Wilson administration made known its desire to have Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana renominated. When Secretary Baker arrived here with the platform and the final instructions as to what the party leaders should do, he promptly turned the hose on the vice presidential talk which Henry Morgenthau had started for the secretary of war. Roger Sullivan's supporters from Cook county still are shouting his name and decorating the town with Sullivan posters, but no serious headway is being made. Marshall will be renominated with Wilson.

The Democrats from the north and south complain of Colonel Roosevelt's shameful treatment of the Progressives.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Those who followed the recent Republican national convention held in Chicago and the preliminary arrangements for the Democratic national convention which met in St. Louis today could not but notice the marked difference in many respects. The Republican convention was solely in the hands of the delegates and not even a likely prediction of the action that would be taken could be made with any degree of certainty until a few hours before the candidate was nominated. In the case of the Democratic convention, every detail was arranged before the assemblage of delegates was called to order.

The Democrats had but one alternative in the nomination of a presidential candidate. That, of course, was the selection of President Wilson, despite the one term platform upon which he was nominated four years ago. The president is the Democratic party in this campaign. The Democratic fight will be waged not on advanced constructive principles of government but in a defense of what Woodrow Wilson has done while serving the American people as president. The arguments in favor of his re-election will defend the administration. The Democrats will have much to say about the preservation of peace and will argue that this country has been kept out of war without dragging the flag into dishonor. The administration's friends will have much to explain. The people are anxious to hear explanations for some of the policies.

The fight this year will be clean cut between the Democrats and Republicans. In many respects the platforms of the two parties are radically different. The voters will make a decision upon principles of government. Issues which beclouded the campaign four years ago have been removed. As soon as the Democratic convention is over the campaign will begin with a vigor and earnestness that promises to eclipse any campaign since the time of Abraham Lincoln. This is to be a campaign of thinking American citizens. The voters realize that the next four years will present both domestic and international problems of grave importance and that the solution will affect the future of the American commonwealth.

The observance of Flag Day is meaning more and more to the American people each year. Today as we compare the peaceful surroundings in which we are privileged to live to the strife, turmoil and bloodshed abroad we feel a deeper appreciation of what the Red, White and Blue really stand for. The American banner is emblematic of a great, progressive nation. As our liberty and freedom were gained by bloodshed and as our nation was preserved by the sacrifice of human life we have a full appreciation of the horrors of warfare and likewise we duly appreciate the advantages of peace bringing with it greater educational, industrial, commercial and agricultural development.

A flag is meaningless unless it is typical of true patriotism. But the true American citizen sees in the banner of the United States the history of the country, the conflicts which have been waged, the peace which is enjoyed and the principles for which this government stands and when it is unfurled he feels a thrill of pride and is glad that he is an American citizen.

The Red, White and Blue stand for America first and all the time. Some of our most loyal citizens are those who of their own choice have adopted the American flag as their banner. The flag represents American citizenship in its fullest measure. Its colors are the purest and to the loyal, patriotic citizen it represents "undiluted Americanism." The flag is emblematic throughout the world of the same principles which it represents at home. Americans abroad never lose an opportunity to salute it for to them, away from their native land, it insures justice, freedom and equality.

Talk not of
The woes of war;
Worse than them
Some others are;
Woes and worse—
For they are crimes
Horrors of

Life may be
In trenches hard,
With much ease
And comfort barred;
But, at least,
They're some retreat
And folks there
At times can eat.

But in homes
All upside down,
Where housewives rage
And fume and frown,
And families drive
From joy afar,
How husbands scorn
This talk of war!

So many keynotes must create
A discord here and there.
—Washington Star.

Genius is ten per cent. inspiration and ninety per cent. "gingeration."

We imagine the strain on Mr. Wilson, as he waits with breathless anxiety for the action of the St. Louis convention, must be something awful.

After reading the nominating speeches of the various candidates at Chicago, it seems a shame that there were places for only two on the ticket.

Samuel G. Blythe, writing up the St. Louis pre-convention activities, is convinced that the future of the republic is safe. Quoth Sam:

Judging from remarks dropped here and there in St. Louis today the United States never before had so many perfervidly patriotic friends as this great and glorious republic has at the present moment.

We are all Americans, apparently, and to make it good, Roger Sullivan is wearing a red-white-and-blue shirt, Tom Taggart has shaved off his mustache to give closer resemblance to G. Washington, and it is rumored that Charles F. Murphy has old glory, in colors, tattooed on his manly chest.

The bands play the "Star-Spangled Banner" continuously; the flags the delegates and visitors to the Democratic National Convention wear on their coats are not tiny flags, but are half as big as handkerchiefs; and the favorite anthem is "America uber Republicans," America, of course, typifying the assembled Democrats, and the folks who represent them in Washington and the folks back home whom they represent.

Speaking of sisterly love among the states, Virginia wants to have West Virginia sold at auction to satisfy a long standing debt.

St. Louisians it is understood, will stand for almost anything from the delegates except having their town called Saint Looie.

"Former President Taft was an orator at the commencement exercises last night."—News Item.

Blessed are the peace finders, for theirs is freedom from the turmoil.—Courier Journal.

Mr. Hughes' ambition has been to be a newspaper correspondent. Doubtless he could find several reporters who would swap jobs, or at least salaries with him, after he is elected next fall.

If you had a flag around the house and neglected to hang it out to-day, you're not as good an American as you should be.

And speaking of Flag Day, it seems a pity that about the only times we get to see Old Glory is on the Fourth of July, Decoration Day, Flag Day and at political rallies. Why shouldn't every day be Flag Day?

permitted on the ground floor, permitting more comfortable seating space for the men who actually do the convention work.

One topic which was eagerly discussed by the crowds in the streets and hotel lobbies was the so-called "unit rule" and "two-thirds" regulation which from time immemorial has ruled at Democratic conclaves.

There was general belief expressed that the regular quadriennial attempt to overthrow these ancient rules would succeed this year.

Delegates recalled that the attempt was made four years ago in Baltimore and defeated mainly because there was such bitter strife between the candidates. If the two-thirds rule had not been in effect at Baltimore, Champ Clark, Missouri's favorite son, would have been named.

This year, it was conceded, will be an excellent opportunity for the Democratic party to abolish the precedent requiring a two-thirds majority as necessary to a choice. There is only one candidate in the minds of the delegates—Wilson—and this offers a free road to revision of the rules.

Most important also, in the minds of the gossipers and hotel lobby debaters, was the platform upon which Democracy will make this year's race. The Democrats believe they have the "edge" on the Republicans, simply because they will have an opportunity to see what sort of a statement of principles the Chicago convention has enacted, and to meet those principles in the Democratic pledges.

ST. LOUIS WOMEN DELEGATES

Twenty-three Will Have Seats at Democratic Convention.

Twenty-three women will have seats as delegates or alternates in the Democratic National convention in the St. Louis Coliseum. They will be only a sprinkling among the delegates, however, as there are to be 1,062 delegates and as many alternates seated on the arena floor.

Of the women, fourteen are dele-

How the Conventions Vote

In the Republican convention, precedent has established that a majority vote is sufficient to nominate. Division of state votes is also permitted by custom.

The Democratic convention is governed by the "two-thirds" vote and the "unit system"—that is, two-thirds is necessary to nominate, and the votes of individual state delegations must be cast en bloc. This practice dates back to the 1832 convention, when Jackson invented it to force Van Buren's nomination as vice-president on the ticket with him.

NEW TACTICS ADOPTED BY "VOTES FOR WOMEN" CROWD

Five Thousand Suffragettes Try to Stare Somewhat Unfriendly Delegates into Receptivity.

(By Karl A. Bickel, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

St. Louis, June 14.—A concentrated battery of five thousand pairs of feminine eyes was turned on the delegates of the Democratic national convention today in an appeal for "votes for women."

The attack staged by the National Woman's Suffrage organization, headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, was the most spectacular event of the suffrage campaign before the convention. Five thousand women, voiceless, motionless with steady gaze for two hours tried to stare a supposedly somewhat unfriendly national convention out of countenance and into meek receptivity.

Dressed in white with a yellow sash across their shoulders and yellow parasols over their heads the women of the national association formed a golden lane from the Jefferson Hotel to the Coliseum. Between the extended ranks of the women soldiers for the ballot Democracy headed for its quadrennial meeting had to walk or ride.

SUFFRAGETTES HOT ON THE TRAIL OF DELEGATES

Equal Suffrage Leaders Join in Demonstrations Hoping to Win Favor of Democrats.

By United Press.
St. Louis, June 14.—Every delegate to the Democratic National Convention, opening today, has a series of white robed satellites trailing him. They are suffragettes—dressed in white, with yellow parasols, arm bands, sashes and caps. The idea is simply to engulf the Democratic hosts with the preponderance of women's desire for the ballot, so the delegates will vote into the national platform a plank approving a suffrage constitutional amendment. It was estimated that there are 8,000 women franchise workers here, and they made things lively in their campaigning by bands, street speeches and dogged pertinacity of their pursuit of delegates.

First Convention in 1796.

Political conventions originated in 1796, when "caucuses" were held in various states to select officials and candidates. The first state nominating convention of regular form was called in New York in 1824.

The first real national political convention was held in Philadelphia in 1830, by the Anti-Masonic party. Exactly a year later, to the day, September 29, the "National Republican" party met in convention at Baltimore and nominated Henry Clay.

The First "Dark Horse."

James K. Polk, at first mentioned only modestly as a vice-presidential candidate, in the Democratic convention of 1844, furnished the first dark horse nominee to history. He was proposed when the convention was deadlocked between Van Buren and Cass.

PREFERS DEATH IN BATTLE

German Plotter Objects to Spending Time in Prison.

New York, June 14.—"Have me deported to Germany, Mr. President. I would rather be fighting for my country in the hell of Verdun than pine away eight years in an American federal prison."

Robert Fay, self-styled "lieutenant" in the German army from which he admits he left in the early part of the war to come here to wreck ships carrying arms and ammunition to the allies, has written a letter to President Wilson, concluding with the plea. Appeal proceedings of his case are pending. To your reporter the young German said: "I wrote President Wilson that this idle waiting behind prison bars is slowly killing me and that I would prefer death in battle."

Mrs. Cal Barlow, who has been seriously ill at her home in this city with appendicitis, was taken to Columbus yesterday where she will take treatment in a hospital in that city.

Affidavits were filed today against Charles Wright, Walter O'Donnell and Mitchell Dugan for gaming and one against Ray Milburn for permitting the use of a room for gaming. The cases have been pending for some time, the officials awaiting the return of Mayor Ross to file the warrants. Wright appeared in the Mayor's court this morning and pleaded not guilty to the charge. The others were expected to appear this afternoon.

Jessie Peacock, Gilbert Abel, Orville Gibson and Virgie Clark were arrested for trespass by local officers today on the complaint of Park Officer Hunt. It is alleged that the men were in the park and refused to obey the order of the park official to get out of the grounds. They plead not guilty to the charge and will be tried tomorrow.

During the last few days five photographs of members of the 1916 graduating class of the Shields high school have been stolen from the display case of Ellis & Wible, West Second street. It is said that two of the pictures have been returned and that the names of the persons who took the others are known. The photographers have given notice that unless the photographs are returned at once the parties who took them from the case will be prosecuted. The case is located in the hallway that leads to the studio.

WISEST LEADER SINCE CIVIL WAR

Wilson Thus Hailed by Martin H. Glynn, Temporary Chairman of Democratic Convention.

STATESMAN MOST PROFOUND

Americanism and Peace, Preparedness and Prosperity Are the Issues on Which the Democratic Party Stands. Its Promises Made Four Years Ago Have Been Faithfully Carried Out to the Nation's Great Advantage—Industrial Tyranny Has Been Throttled and the Golden Resources of America Set Free.

St. Louis, June 14.—With the assertion that no president since the civil war has had as crucial problems to solve, and no president has displayed a grasp more sure, a statesmanship more profound, as President Wilson. Hon. Martin H. Glynn, former governor of New York, opened the Democratic national convention here today. Declaring that "Americanism and peace, preparedness and prosperity, are the issues upon which the Democratic party stands, and the heart of Democracy swells with pride that is more than a pride of party as it hails the man who has asserted this Americanism, assured this peace, advocated this preparedness and produced this prosperity," he predicted the re-election of President Wilson.

Taking up our foreign relations that have been called into emphatic prominence by the world wide war, the speaker declared that "We have entered this hall as Democrats; we shall deliberate as Americans." * * * The policy of neutrality, he argued, is as truly American as the American flag. For 200 years neutrality was a theory; America made it a fact. "It took Washington and his successors eight years of endless negotiation to win recognition of American neutrality. And this eighty years of struggle wove the doctrine of neutrality so closely into the warp and woof of our national life that to tear it out now would unravel the very threads of our existence." By the records of history Mr. Glynn maintained that if Washington and Lincoln were right President Wilson is right. The neutrality that President Wilson stands for today was advocated by Washington, by Hamilton, by Jefferson and by Lincoln.

Followed Examples of Greatest Presidents.

By citing precedents Mr. Glynn justified and defended the course of the president in the Lusitania and similar incidents. "In the face of this record," he asked, "do Republicans realize that when they arraign the policy of the president of the United States today they arraign the policy of Harrison, of Blaine, of Lincoln and of Grant? For the pleasure of criticizing a Democratic president, are they willing to read out of the Republican party the greatest men the Republic has ever had? Are they willing to say that the Republican party of today condemns what Hamilton did in revolutionary days, what Lincoln did in civil war days, and what Grant and Blaine and Harrison did but yesterday?" "In his policy of peaceful negotiations today the president of the United States follows the example set him by the greatest presidents which the Democratic party and the greatest presidents the Republican party ever gave this nation."

Mr. Glynn impressed on his hearers that it was the business of this convention, "representing every section of the United States, speaking for every racial strain in America, to send forth a message to all the world that will leave no room for doubt.

"We must enable every real American to stand up and assert his Americanism. We must make the issue so clear that every ballot box in the land may become a monument to the loyalty of American manhood.

"The citizens of this country must stand behind their president because his policies are right. They will stand behind him because his policies are the policies which have brought the nation a century of prosperous and honored peace. They will stand behind him because they want these policies continued, that prosperity prolonged, that peace assured."

Party Pledges Redeemed.

He pointed out that the promise made four years ago that a Democratic administration would liberate the nation from the chains of industrial tyranny has been carried out. He eulogized the federal reserve act and declared that the "scholar-statesman, whose rod has struck the golden rock of America's resources to set free the wealth imprisoned for half a century, is a Moses who has led America's industries from the wilderness of doubt and despair to the promised land of prosperity and hope."

The laws restraining big business from stifling competition, the trades commission act, the movement to foster expansion of American trade, the close union of economic, commercial and financial interests between the United States and the nations of South America are shown to be legislation of the widest benefit. The Underwood tariff Mr. Glynn characterized as the fairest and the best of all we have enacted. Under the present administration the United States has enjoyed a wonderful era of good business and good times.

American Ideals Fostered.

The American's ideals and his aspirations served as the basis for the speaker's opening discussion.

"We who stand today on the fertile soil of America, who live under the smiling skies of a free and fruitful land, must prove worthy of the trust that American sacrifice has imposed on every American.

"Disregarding the divisions that make one man a Tory and another a Whig, one man a Republican and another a Democrat, Americans will cast aside the tinsel of party labels and the mummery of party emblems.

"From the great pulsing heart of the nation will come a patriot command to crush partisanship and rebuke whatever is mean or blind.

"The command will be heard by the plowman in his field and by the laborer at his bench. It will reach the merchant in his office and the lawyer at his desk. We would be false to ourselves and recreant to those who send us here if we permitted any thought of partisan profit, any consideration of political advantage to obscure our vision of the tremendous issues now before the people of the United States. We must cast aside all that is selfish; we must hold ourselves worthy of a nation's confidence by offering only the best of our intelligence, the flower of our patriotism toward the solution of what all men perceive to be a crisis in the nation's affairs."

The Paramount Issue.

In asking for an endorsement of the president's peace policy Mr. Glynn said:

"For two years the world has been afloat. The civilization that we know has been torn by the mightiest struggle in its history. Sparks from Europe's conflagration have blazed in our own skies, echoes of her strife have sounded at our very doors. That fire still burns, that struggle still continues, but thus far the United States has held the flame at bay, thus far it has saved its people from participation in the conflict.

"What the people of the United States must determine through their suffrage is whether the course the country has pursued through this crucial period is to be continued, whether the principles that have been asserted as our national policy shall be endorsed or withdrawn.

"This is the paramount issue. No lesser issue must cloud it, no unrelated problems must confuse it."

In declaring that the policy of neutrality is as American as the American flag Mr. Glynn asserted that:

"The first president of the United States was the first man to pronounce neutrality a rule of international conduct.

"In April, 1793, Washington declared the doctrine, and within a month John Jay, chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, in an epoch making decision from the bench whose realization would insure universal and perpetual peace, wrote the principle into the law of this land. The Declaration of Independence had foretold it by declaring 'the rest of mankind enemies in war, in peace friends.' The constitution recognized it, but the first president of the United States by proclamation, the first chief justice by interpretation, gave it vitality and power.

Stands With Washington.

"The president of the United States stands today where stood the men who made America and who saved America. He stands where John Adams stood when he told King George that America was the land he loved and that peace was her grandeur and her welfare. He stands where General Grant stood when he said there never was a war that could not have been settled better some other way, and he has shown his willingness to try the ways of peace before he seeks the paths of war. He stands where George Washington stood when he prayed that this country would never unsheathe the sword except in self defense so long as justice and our essential rights could be preserved without it.

"For vainglory or for selfish purpose, others may cry up a policy of blood and iron, but the president of the United States has acted on the belief that the leader of a nation who plunges his people into an unnecessary war, like Pontius Pilate vainly washes his hands of innocent blood while the earth quakes and the heavens are darkened and thousands give up the ghost."

Republican Party False to Its Traditions.

Speaking of the opposition to the president's peace policy, the speaker continued:

"By opposing what we stand for today the Republican party opposes what Hamilton stood for a century ago. The founder of the Republican party and the founder of the Democratic party, placing their country's happiness above every other consideration, forgot partisanship and made American neutrality a national creed. We who follow Jefferson stand where Jefferson stood, but we look in vain for a sign from the present leaders of the Republican party to show that they follow where Hamilton led. Where Hamilton counseled moderation they denounce it. Where Hamilton thought only of country they think only of self. Where Hamilton placed patriotism above partisanship they place partisanship above patriotism. How then do they dare to speak for the great body of American citizens who form the rank and file of the Republican party? Do these leaders believe that their Republicanism is a better Republicanism than Hamilton's, their Americanism a purer Americanism than that of Washington?

"If Washington was right, if Jefferson was right, if Hamilton was right, if Lincoln was right, then the president of the United States is right today. If the Republican leaders are right then Lincoln was wrong and Jefferson was wrong and Hamilton was wrong."

The justification of our policy of neutrality is expressed by Mr. Glynn in these words:

"Before this declaration every war was a world war; since this declaration nearly every war has been a local war. Before this declaration war was a whirlpool, ever increasing in area and in its whirl dragging down the nations of the earth; since this declaration war has become a sea of trouble upon which nations embark only from self will, from self interest or the necessity of geographical position, of financial obligation or political alliance.

Neutrality Kept Us at Peace.

"Neutrality is the policy which has kept us at peace while Europe has been driving the nails of war through the hands and feet of a crucified humanity.

"The praises of this policy are not written in the ruins of American homes, not on the wreck of American industries, not in the mourning of American families; they are found in the myriad evidences of prosperity and plenty that make this a contented land. From every whirling spindle in America, from every factory wheel that turns, from every growing thing that breathes its prayer of plenty to the skies, from every quiet school, from every crowded mart, from every peaceful home goes up a song of praise, a psalm of thanksgiving to hymn a nation's tribute to the statesmanship that has brought these things to pass."

The issue raised by Democracy's opponents of the vigor with which our neutrality has been enforced is dealt with by the records of history:

"When Grant was president, during the war between Spain and the Spanish West Indies, a Spanish gunboat seized the vessel Virginia flying the American flag and a Spanish commandant in cold blood shot the captain of the Virginia, thirty-six of the crew and sixteen of the passengers.

"But we didn't go to war. Grant settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Harrison was president the people of Chile conceived a violent dislike to the United States for our insistence upon neutrality during the Chilean revolution. When this feeling was at its height one junior officer from the United States warship Baltimore was killed outright in the streets of Valparaiso and sixteen of our sailors wounded, of whom one afterward died.

Negotiation Better Than War.

"But we didn't go to war. Harrison settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Lincoln was president this country's rights were violated on every side. England, Russia, France and Spain were guilty of such flagrant violations that Secretary of State Seward advanced a plan to go to war with all of them at one and the same time.

"But we didn't go to war. Lincoln settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president is trying to do today.

"When Pierce was president the British minister in this country and three of his counsel violated our neutrality during the Crimean war. We gave these representatives of Great Britain their passports and sent them home.

"But we didn't go to war. Pierce settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Van Buren was president a detachment of Canadian militia, during the internal troubles in Canada, boarded the United States ship Carolina in the American waters of Niagara river, killed an American member of the crew, fired the ship and sent her adrift over Niagara falls.

"But we didn't go to war. Van Buren settled our troubles by negotiation, just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Jefferson was president England seized hundreds of our ships and Napoleon hundreds more.

"When Adams was president France preyed upon our commerce. She extended her seizure, searches and confiscations to the very waters of the United States themselves until she had piled up in our state department charges of over 2,300 violations of neutrality's law.

"But we didn't go to war. Adams settled our troubles by negotiation, just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Washington was president and 'neutrality' first declared, war convulsed Europe our ships dared not to put to sea, commerce was paralyzed and business depressed. American passengers and American crews were thrown into prison and deprived of legal rights.

"But we didn't go to war. Washington settled our troubles by negotiation, just as the president of the United States is trying to do today."

Advocates of War Confounded.

In concluding this issue Mr. Glynn asks:

"Do the critics of the present administration believe that Lincoln should have risked national disaster by using the sword rather than the pen in pressing the Alabama claims? Are they willing to brand Grant as a coward because he kept us at peace with Spain?"

In answer to those who say that President Wilson's policy does not satisfy any one Mr. Glynn replies: "He means that it does not satisfy those who would map out a new and untried course for this nation to pursue, but they forget it does satisfy those who believe the United States should live up to the principles it has professed for a century and more."

"Chief Justice White of the United States supreme court says this policy has given America the greatest diplomatic victory of the past generation. Maximilian Harden, Germany's noted editor, says 'that never once has this republic violated its neutrality,' and Gilbert K. Chesterton, the famous English journalist, says 'it is the duty of the president of the United States to protect the interests of the people of the United States; that he can't dip his country into hell just to show the world he has a keen sense of being an individual savior.'

"This policy," Mr. Glynn continued "may not satisfy those who revel in destruction and find pleasure in despair. It may not satisfy the fire eater or the swashbuckler. But it does satisfy those who worship at the altar of the god of peace. It does satisfy the mothers of the land at whose hearth and fireside no jingoistic war has placed an empty chair. It does satisfy the daughters of this land from whom bluster and brag have sent no loving brother to the dissolution of the grave. It does satisfy the fathers of this land and the sons of this land who will fight for our flag and die for our flag when reason primes the rifle, when honor draws the sword, when justice breathes a blessing on the standards they uphold.

"Fighting for every degree of injury," he maintained, "would mean perpetual war, and this is the policy of our opponents, deny it how they will. It would give us a war abroad each time the fighting cock of the European weather vane shifted with the breeze. It would make America the cockpit of the world. We would be so busy settling other people's quarrels that we would have no time to attend to our own business."

Preparedness For Defense.

In his treatment of the issue of preparedness Mr. Glynn asserts that the genius of this country is for peace.

"We have built our greatness on the resources of nature and the peaceful toil of our people. The ring of the anvil, not the rattle of the saber; the song of the reaper, not the shriek of the soldier; the clatter of the shuttle, not the crack of the rifle, have won us the place we occupy in the councils of the world.

"Like the old Mohawk chief who loved peace, we would like to throw the tomahawk of war so high in the sky that no man's hand could ever pull it down. But when some other tribe among the races of men sends us a bundle of arrows wrapped in the skin of a rattlesnake we want, like old Governor Bradford of Massachusetts, to be in a position to send that rattlesnake skin back stuffed with powder and with ball.

"We have been carried too close to the rocks of war during the past two years to believe that those rocks do not exist. And looking into the future we can perceive that if our sovereignty is not challenged, if our peace is not assailed, it will only be because the world knows that we are strong enough to defend ourselves from every foe.

"For these reasons this administration has done more for our army and our navy than any administration in our history.

"More than this, it has mobilized the resources of the nation to meet the needs of war. It has placed the wealth of the country back of the strength of the country, the toiler back of the soldier and the sailor.

"And to our opponents we say you can't create an army, can't create a navy, in the course of a day. To them we say if our navy is not strong enough, our army not big enough, the Republican party is 80 per cent to blame, for the Republican party has been in control of this nation 80 per cent of the time during the past fifty years.

"The Democratic party advocates and seeks preparedness, but it is preparedness for defense, not preparedness for aggression.

"It is the preparedness which builds the nation's house upon a rock, so it will not fall when the rains descend and the floods come and the winds blow.

"A regard for national surety as well as a pride of personal honor will therefore bring the American people to the support of their president. Whether their blood is drawn from the banks of the Rhine, or where the river Shannon flows, whether they hail from Alpine valleys or the meadows of the Pyrenees, whether their descent be German or French, Irish or English, Austrian or Italian, Russian or Greek, the men who have sworn an oath of fealty to the ideals of America will be true.

"They may love the lands of their fathers much, but they love the land of their children more. They may cherish the memory of the sod from whence they sprang, but they stand ready to die for the soil that they have hallowed with their homes."

Democracy Has Kept the Faith.

In his review of our domestic policy the temporary chairman pointed that the promise made by democracy four years ago had been faithfully kept.

"Today the prosperity which the nation enjoys bears witness that democracy has kept the faith. Today the gates of opportunity are open; the hosts of special privilege stand disarmed. Today the forces of government are encouraging, not blocking the full expression of the nation's progress. Today the business man, the artisan and farmer find themselves free to enjoy the fruits of their labors, unhampered by the sinister power of special privilege or the selfish oppression of 'invisible government.'"

Of the federal reserve act Mr. Glynn said this to say:

"In the panic of 1907, under the old system, New York could not lend a country bank $50,000 with which to meet factory payrolls; in 1915, under the new system inaugurated by this Democratic administration, New York loaned Europe $500,000,000 even though the financial centers of the world were disrupted by the world war, and there were still left in New York the largest bank deposits in its history.

"If this Democratic administration had performed no other public service than the enactment of the federal reserve act it would deserve the unstinted approval of a grateful nation. Thanks to the Democracy and to Democracy's great leader, the business man who is struggling to establish himself may now work out his destiny without living in terror of panics and hard times. The toiler in the factory may ply his tasks in security, knowing that his employer's business is safe from assault. The farmer who must borrow to move his crops may do so without spending his days in anxiety, his nights in nightmares of foreclosure and disaster.

"The Underwood tariff," declared the speaker, "enacted by this administration, has banished greed from the gates of our ports and written justice into our tariff schedules.

"Of all the tariffs we ever enacted this is the fairest and the best.

"Until the foreign war reduced imports no new tariff was ever more satisfactory. The highest protective tariff ever written would probably have given us no more revenue during this European war, and a higher tariff on raw material would have hampered our manufactures. A higher tariff on the necessities of life would have placed a woeful burden on the poor man in the conditions which the war abroad has brought about.

"By the Underwood law this administration has taken the tariff out of politics; by the new tariff commission it proposes to take politics out of the tariff."

Plenty Fills the Land.

In the discussion of prosperity Mr. Glynn made particular reference to our industrial condition.

"Today prosperity shines from blazing furnaces and glowing forges. It echoes from busy docks and from thronged emporiums of trade. Its message of plenty fills the land with the chant of the spindle and of loom, lifting the mortgage from the poor man's home and promising his children a future that seemed impossible before.

"During the past four years this country has experienced a steady and continuous improvement in business. Wealth has increased 21 per cent, the value of manufactured products 39 per cent, capital 43 per cent, wages 54 per cent and exports 77 per cent. The floodtide of our prosperity has risen to such an unprecedented height that the only limit to trade is our ability to make and transport the commodities demanded at home and abroad. Our fields and our factories cry aloud for men and unemployment has ceased to be a problem. Wages have advanced, building operations have resumed, real estate has recovered its worth.

"There is not an idle car on our railroads or an idle ship at our docks. For the first time in history America's greatest port has become the world's greatest port.

Great Increase of Wealth.

"The purchasing power of our people is greater than that of any other people on the globe. Never was there as much money in our vaults as today. The aggregate resources of our national banks are $300,000,000 more than the aggregate resources of the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Bank of Russia, the Reichsbank of Germany, the Bank of the Netherlands, the Swiss National bank and the Bank of Japan. We have $401,000,000 more than we had a year and a half ago, and our gold supply exceeds by many hundreds of millions the gold supply of any other nation on earth.

"This avalanche of money poured into our pockets by the rest of the world as a tribute to our national resources and our fidelity to peaceful industry is not the measure of our prosperity. It is only the symbol. Compared with our trade at home this foreign trade is a mere pittance. Our domestic commerce today is larger than the foreign commerce of all the nations of the world combined.

"Against this actual condition our opponents raise an argument of 'ifs.' With greater truth we can also enter the realm of conjecture and declare that if another candidate had been elected four years ago the United States would be at war today. A ton of 'ifs' do not weigh as much as a single fact. Our opponents forget that if the flight of the seagulls off the coast of the West Indies had not directed his course Columbus would not have discovered America when he did. But the seagulls were there—'ifs' cannot banish them—and Columbus found our land."

Chairman Glynn concluded with praise for President Wilson, who, he said, has measured up to the best traditions of a great office.

The Man Who Has Made Democracy Proud.

"He has been wise with a wisdom that is steeped in the traditions of his country, with a wisdom that has been disciplined by training and broadened by instruction.

"He has been firm with the firmness that proceeds from deep conviction, with the firmness that is grounded in a duty well defined.

"He has been patient with the patience which believes and trusts that truth crushed to earth will rise again, with the patience that can endure and wait, watch and pray, for the certain vindication of justice, humanity and right.

"He has been patriotic with a patriotism that has never wavered, a patriotism that is as pure and strong as the faith that moved the fathers when they made our country free.

"And when the history of these days

WHY MEN CHEW TOBACCO

It's the Only Way That Real Tobacco Hunger Can Be Entirely Satisfied

"OLD KENTUCKY" IDEAL CHEW

Since tobacco was first introduced to civilization, nobody has ever discovered so supremely satisfactory a way to get all the flavor and enjoyment out of it as chewing it. And no other form of chew can give you the hearty, wholesome, juicy flavor that you get from a delicious high-grade plug tobacco like Old Kentucky.

The secret of the greatest chewing satisfaction lies in the selection of your chew. Among plug tobaccos the brand that gets the most enthusiastic endorsement is undoubtedly Old Kentucky. The reason for this is not hard to find.

Old Kentucky is made exclusively of ripe Kentucky Burley—the most richly-flavored chewing tobacco that grows. Still more, only the very choicest of all the Burley leaf is used for Old Kentucky.

This choice leaf is selected with the most painstaking care, is stemmed by hand, is thoroughly washed free of all foreign matter and is pressed into plugs so slowly that not a drop of juice or an atom of flavor escapes. Moreover, Old Kentucky is made under the most rigid, cleanly and sanitary conditions.

The result is a sweet, mellow, luscious, satisfying chew that cannot be obtained in any other tobacco than Old Kentucky.

Try a 10c pocket plug to-day.

comes to be written and the children of tomorrow read their nation's story, when time shall have dispelled all misconception and the years shall have rendered their impartial verdict one name will shine in golden splendor upon the page that is blackened with the tale of Europe's war, one name will represent the triumph of American principles over the hosts of darkness and of death.

"That name will be the name of the great president who has made Democracy proud that he is a Democrat and made Americans proud that he is an American.

"It will be the name of the statesman who has kept his country true to its faith in a time that tried men's souls; the name of the student and the scholar who has championed the cause of American freedom wherever he found it oppressed; the name of the patriot who has implanted his country's flag on the highest peak to which humanity has yet aspired; the name that carried the torch of progress to victory once and will carry it to victory again—the name of Woodrow Wilson, president and president to be."

PROF. F. L. PAXSON SPEAKS TO EARLHAM COLLEGE SENIORS

Describes "Indiana as Most American Part of the United States"—Emphasized Centennial.

By United Press.
Richmond, Ind., June 14.—Indiana was described here today as the "most American part of the United States" by Professor Frederick L. Paxson, of the University of Wisconsin, who delivered the commencement address at Earlham college.

"Indiana's population contains an unusually low percentage of the foreign born," said Paxson, "and very few Americans born outside the state. A century ago when the state was being founded its people were still nearly all of American birth. The south, the middle states and the north contributed heavily to the original Indiana population, so that the state started out with representatives of all the best types of American culture."

"In the last forty years Indiana has become the amalgamation of the American sections," said Paxson. "Its elections are the best sample of national elections and when Indiana has accepted an idea its national acceptance is likely."

Paxson, who is president of the Mississippi Valley Historical association, spoke along lines calculated to bring out the Indiana centennial idea.

Will Visit Battlefields.

An automobile party composed of Dr. Charles E. Gillispie, James E. Gillispie, Miss Mary Gillispie, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bard, of Louisville, will leave Thursday on a two weeks' motor trip through the South. They will visit every battlefield on which James E. Gillispie saw service during the Civil War. He was a member of the Twenty-Second Indiana Regiment of which Col. Shea was in command. The party will first go to Louisville and then to Nashville, Murfreesboro, Chattanooga, Knoxville and Atlanta. It will be the first time that Mr. Gillispie has ever visited the scene of the engagement since he served in the Union army. He was wounded in a battle a short distance from Atlanta on the famous march to the sea and was compelled to leave the army after that time.

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT HELD AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Albert Sraw, Editor of Review of Reviews is Speaker at Exercises on the Campus.

By United Press.
Bloomington, Ind., June 14.—Dr. Albert Shaw, of New York, editor of the Review of Reviews, was the speaker to-day at the annual commencement exercises of Indiana University. The exercises were held in the open-air amphitheatre on the campus, Indiana being one of the few universities in the United States holding her commencement exercises out of doors.

The commencement exercises were preceded by the annual commencement procession across the campus, headed by the University or First Regiment band followed by the faculty and seniors in caps and gowns.

Following the address by Dr. Shaw degrees were conferred by President William Lowe Bryan. Degrees of bachelor of arts, bachelor of laws, master of arts, doctor of medicine, bachelor of science, and doctor of philosophy were conferred.

At noon the annual commencement day luncheon was served in the Student building.

said in part: "What does it profit a man to soar to the greatest heights of learning if he does not learn the one thing that is needful, viz. the way to salvation. There is no other knowledge so useful and practical in its application to the daily life of man as the knowledge gained by a christian school-training. Thousands of children never make use of geography, arithmetic and other things they studied in school in later life. But the moral training received in a christian school is of inestimable value in every condition and phase of life that the pupil may meet with in the future. The final goal of all religious instruction carried on in our parish schools is the salvation of immortal souls. But a good christian is always a good citizen. The cry for honest, dutiful, dependable and conscientious men and women for all kinds of positions in public and private life is universal. A school that develops the moral side of its pupils furnishes such people. However, moral training without religion is impossible."

"The Lutheran parochial school trains its pupils in two languages. It requires a great deal of memorizing. This training in two languages and continual memorizing work in all the grades is responsible for the high degree of mental development and efficiency found in our scholars. The child receives a broader education than is possible in schools where these things are not included in the curriculum."

The speaker refuted the idea entertained by many, viz. that the Sunday School can take the place of the parochial school, in other words that it accomplishes the same results as the parish school. He stated that his personal experience with Sunday School work, which he gained as superintendent of the Lutheran Sunday Schools in New York City during a period of ten years convinced him that the Sunday School is a poor substitute for the parochial day-school.

The exercises closed one of the most successful years in the history of the Lutheran school. The enrollment this year was larger than ever before and next year an additional teacher will be added to the faculty.

Notice to Members of St. Paul.

The pastor will conduct the Mid-Week Bible Study this evening at 7:30 and very cordially invites all to attend.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Henry and Mrs. John Hauenschild entertain the Ladies' Aid Society in the Sunday School rooms and will be pleased to have all members present.
